

I think that Sinclair Broadcasting is taking advantage of its position as a broadcaster in planning a clearly political "documentary" this close to the election. While it may technically meet the letter of the law, it violates the intent that the candidates deserve equal time. The FCC should consider whether large companies should continue to have as much control of the airwaves.

Sinclair's actions show why there is a need for strengthened media ownership rules. Please consider what is fair for television viewers. Thank you.
